Doctors Said He Had Dropsy.

Some time ago I had an attack of dropsy which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

Yours very truly,

After any Sickness

nothing so rapidly restores health and vigor as SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is the essence of natural body-nourishment, so medically perfect that nature immediately appropriates and distributes it to every organ, every tissue—feeding, nourishing and restoring them to normal activity.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is not a patent medicine, but is nature's body-nourishment with curative, upbuilding properties and without a drop of drug or alcohol. It contains superior cod liver oil, the hypophosphites of lime and soda with glycerine, and is so delicately emulsified that it enters the system without digestive effort—builds, tones and sustains.

After croup, whooping cough, measles and other child ailments it is nature's ally in restoring health.

After grippe or pneumonia it imparts strength and health, and for colds, coughs, sore, tight chests and throat troubles SCOTT'S EMULSION gives the greatest relief known.

Trip in the West and South.

Tropico, California.

Dear Advertiser—As this, my second trip to California, will be over a new section of the big and becoming west and south, I will try and write out from time a few "Notes by the Wayside," and send them along for the personal of your readers. I left Hurley, S. D., on the early morning train on Dec. 2nd, 1912, going by the way of Sioux City, one hundred miles distant. Then on down the broad level bottom lands of the Iowa side of Missouri river to Council Bluffs, another hundred miles, then across the big bridge to Omaha, Neb., thence down the Nebraska side of the river to Kansas City, Ka. Then across the big river again to Kansas City, Mo., another two hundred miles distant. I arrived about 6 p. m., and after a four hours wait started in a tourist sleeper for an all night ride across the broad prairies of Kansas by the way of the popular Santa Fe route.

About seven the next morning I changed cars at Arkansas City, Kansas, near the south line of the state, and an hour later was passing swiftly over the rich fertile prairies of Oklahoma, one of our youngest and most progressive sister states.

At Meeker, 410 miles south of Kansas City I stopped for a three day's visit with my old Dakota pioneer friend, Homer Lewis, who for more than twenty years has made his home in this portion of the state. He has a 320 acre farm, nicely improved, six miles from town and he gave me valuable information about that portion of the state.

This being in the cotton belt most of the southern people, (and that includes many negroes) raise mostly cotton. Mr. Lewis being a New York Yankee, practices mixed farming, raising both corn and cotton and keeping a fine lot of dairy cows, also fine hogs and a large flock of egg producing hens.

In answer to my inquiries, he informed me that he had never joined but one secret society and that was an "Anti-Horse Thief Society," whose membership extended over several states, and who by their swift meeting out of justice to the rapist, horse thief and other low down criminals, became a terror to the evil doers, and life and property is as safe here in this rapidly growing country as in any state in the union.

There had been a recent rain, and the roads were very dry, a chafestatio I was told of southern roads in general.

The next day we visited the town of Prague, six miles distant in another direction, where I saw for the first time a cotton gin in full blast. It reminded me a little of a doll factory, and while a planter would drive up to the unloading shoot with a big wagon box full of raw cotton, then the end of a large suction pipe was swung around over the load and the suction applied and the cotton sucked up into the fast revolving pickers, the seed and bolls were separated and carried by other pipes into a large storehouse some rods distant, while the clear white cotton came rolling out another way and fell into a massive box where it was about half pressed then swung around under another press where it was further reduced in size and when bound by steel bands or ties, becomes one of the twelve million bales of cotton ginned in the cotton belt of the south during the season of 1912.

So great is the suction applied to the suction pipe that one man who forgot to remove his overcoat from the load, had it sucked up and completely ruined, while an innocent little red cat, whom some mischievous daisy (perhaps) had tossed into the load, and who remained undiscovered, except by his breath until he fell a lifeless corpse into the press.

We next visited the nearby Cotton Seed Oil Mill, where the cotton seed, after being crushed, slides down a shoot into a kind of iron pan or mold about eighteen inches wide and thirty inches long. Each frame as filled was placed one above another in great rows until the form was full and perhaps three feet high, then the screws were applied and the oil runs out and into a vat beneath, much like the cider from the cider press. Then the oil cakes reduced to about two inches in thickness are carried to the grinding room, ground and sacked and become the oil meal of commerce.

Many of the oil mill owners feed large numbers of cattle. The cotton bolls I was told are equal to good English and when mixed with good corn, make a ration equal to the corn ration fed by eastern farmers. I have read that large quantities of the oil is shipped to France and shipped back to this country as pure olive oil.

From Mr. Lewis I learned the following facts. Most of the southern planters raise little besides cotton, and their farms are badly run out and where they used to raise a bale of cotton to the acre, they now barely raise on an average one-half that amount. A northern man who raises mixed crops on a plot and seed many of the natives all to the bill and cotton. Cotton pickers can pick from one hundred and fifty to three hundred pounds of cotton according to the yield and their knack in picking.

In the beginning of the picking season they are paid about sixty cents hundred for picking. Late in the fall when it is wet and cold as high as a collar a hundred is paid. Cotton does not all come out at once and the field requires going over three times.

Of cotton in the seed as it is called, it takes from fifteen to seventeen hundred pounds to make a five hundred pound bale. At the present price, twelve cents a pound, a bale brings about sixty dollars and the seed when sold brings about fourteen cents more, making the value of a bale of cotton to a planter about $74.00.

Mr. Lewis hauls his seed home and feeds it to his cattle and horses, while many of the natives sell to the mill and nothing back to help enrich the soil. Most of the cotton had been picked when I was there but there were a few late fields where the pickers were still at work. In one field I saw seven men, women and children at work. The picker had gunny sack fastened over his shoulder in size according to the picker, that of the men being about eight feet in length which they dragged along the ground and filled as they progressed. A high boxed lumber wagon stood in the field into which the sacks were emptied as filled.

This was my first trip to the cotton belt of the sunny south, and I saw many things that were new and interesting to me. At every stage there was a waiting room provided for both white and colored passengers and on each passenger train a Jim Crow car for the accommodation of the colored gentry.

Oklahoma is in the dry belt and in 1910 and 1911 suffered greatly from the prolonged drought, but 1912 was a year of good crops and with high prices for all kinds of farm products brought great prosperity to the state. Oklahoma has some freak laws, but she has some of the Northern states might, well pattern after, and amongst them the Bank guaranteed law, and the one requiring the railroads in small towns to keep their men's toilet rooms in a neat and presentable condition.

Having finished my visit at Meeker, on Friday noon I boarded my train and journeyed on to Pan's Valley, and at midnight after a six hour's wait boarded the through train on the main line to Santa Fe, and after a continuous run of twenty hours arrived at Houston about midnight, having traveled about fourteen hundred miles due south of my starting point at Hurley, S. D.

I passed the remainder of the night in a hotel and early the next morning boarded a street car bound for Bruwer four miles out, where I was soon at home with the Layne family, who were old time Dakota neighbors of mine. Malon Layne is the head of the firm of Layne & Bowler, who do to extensive business in boring wells and putting in irrigating pumping plants in both Texas, Oklahoma and California. The firm have some forty deep well boring outfits and give employment to a large number of men. Located within half a mile of Mr. Layne are his four sons, two brothers and a brother-in-law, all old time friends of mine. I enjoyed my week's stay with them very much indeed.

Houston is a modern, fast growing city with a population of some over 100,000. It has many fine business houses, fine churches, schools and public buildings. There are many large manufacturing plants in and around the city that give employment to many people. She is surrounded by a fine agricultural country, the leading products being cotton, rice and corn. Houston is bound in the near future to become a great commercial center and her energetic business men have great faith in her future greatness.

They are building a great deep water way to Galveston bay, fifty miles distant. A deep slough runs from the city to the bay, which is being deepened and broadened. This work is well under way and it is the proud boast of the citizens of Houston that at a day not far distant an early inland harbor will be built into which our largest battle ships can safely enter, and that great ocean steamers will load and unload their cargoes at docks.

I spent one day at Galveston, walked for several miles along the great sea wall and boulevard, strolled along the sandy beach, visited one of the great bathing pavilions and saw many of the fine public buildings, churches, school buildings, hotels, rooming houses, and bungalows that have been built upon a solid foundation to take the place of those destroyed by the fearful storm of Sept. 1900, when more than 8,000 persons found watery graves beneath the surging waves.

Galveston is the one great seaport of Texas, and the improvements that have been made there since the great storm of twelve years ago, are wonderful to behold. The great sea wall extending some ten or twelve miles along the shore and twelve feet above tide water I think, the raising of the entire island about six feet by pumping sand from the bay, thereby making a deep water harbor, and the building of the great solid cement bridge, connecting the city to the mainland was a task seemingly, that only giants could perform, but they did it, and they did it well. As no pen can describe the destruction wrought to the stricken city by that fearful storm. So no pen can describe or artist paint the great work that has been done in building the new city upon the ruins of the old, and which has made a new and greater Galveston that is a wonder to the world and the joy and pride of all those that claim it to be their home.

Galveston with its mild climate, its grand beach, its great bathing pier, extending two miles out into the bay, and its many other attractions, is an ideal, all the year round pleasure resort, and tens of thousands of tourists each year, find health and pleasure within the city and its suburbs.

You never saw a beautiful woman who didn't have beautiful hair. The charms of a beautiful woman lie in her hair. Many women do not realize the attractions they possess because they do not give proper attention to the hair.

The women of the "400" are famed for their beauty, not because their facial features are superior to those of other women, but because they know how to keep young by supplying vigor, lustre, and strength to the hair.

BETHEL.

The new sanatorium is finished as far as the carpenters and painters are concerned. Next comes the furnishing. The Universalist fair entertainment will be given in Edison hall, May 1. An excellent program has been provided, for and the tickets are already on sale at "Bosserman's."

A good sprinkling of measles and German measles is making an uneasy time for many of the parents and children in and about the village. Gould Academy and the public schools all have their share in the uneasiness. Mostly mild cases so far.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot T. Ashby of Caribou announce the engagement of their daughter, Pearl, to Dr. Raymond E. Tibbotts of Bethel. Miss Ashby is a graduate of the Maine General Hospital Training school and one of Portland's most successful trained nurses.

The roads in this section present a mixture of conditions. In one place the mud is flying, in the next the deep mud is ready to take a carriage wheel in almost to the hub, then in some shaded place the ice covers the road from side to side. A good warm rain would help much to improve the conditions of the highways.

Rev. J. H. Little is talked of as the next Department Commander of the G. A. R. of Maine. He elected he will continue his pastorate here at Bethel, and attend to the ministerial duties here and at other places when required, in addition to his duties as commander. The annual Encampment of the G. A. R. meets in Portland on May 3. The election of officers comes on the second day.

Leslie Chase has returned from the hospital.

Mrs. A. E. K. Grover spent the week-end at H. M. Merrill's.

Perley Merritt on his foot, badly and has had blood poison.

Dana Bartlett is visiting his son, E. R. Bartlett and other relatives.

Mrs. T. H. Durell is gradually failing although not suffering exceedingly.

The Lookie farm at North Bethel will be sold as soon as arrangements can be made.

Elliott Rich has so far recovered as to be able to resume work at C. K. Fox's store.

Mrs. Diana Foster has moved into the lower rent in S. Littlehale's house on Elm street.

Richard Williamson of North Bethel is able to be out; he has been ill, his grandson stays with him.

There are a number of cases of measles among the Academy students. None, as yet, have been seriously ill.

Mrs. Edwin Roffe, (see Alice Miller) is at the Maine General hospital and underwent an operation last Friday. She is reported doing well.

Ladies' Suits and Coats

If you have in mind a Suit or a Coat you will be well paid by visiting this department and looking over our splendid assortment. This season the variety of styles and colorings are large, hardly any two alike, and being moderately priced, are attracting a great deal of attention from women of refined taste.

We have mentioned a few to give you an idea of the good values.

SUITS, $12.50, diagonal worsted, in navy only, has collar and cuffs of satin with fancy stitching, revers trimmed with braid and pearl buttons, back of coat trimmed with braid and buttons, satin lined.

SUITS, $15.00, several styles, one style made of fine quality serge. Has collar of striped fatine, satin piping and pearl buttons, back trimmed with braid, pearl ornaments and braid buttons.

SUITS, $18.00, $20.00, $25.00, of Bedford cord, Eponge, Diagonals, Serges and fancy mixtures in the leading shades, in a wide range of styles, hardly any two alike, some are neatly trimmed with Bulgarian silk, fancy braids and buttons, others are strictly tailored. Considering the qualities and styles it would be hard to find suits to match these.

LADIES' and MISSES' COATS

Our aim was this when we started this season, to get together the best line we have ever had. Our efforts have been rewarded by the productions of many smart styles at prices to suit the modest purse. Our sales on these garments have been unusually large this Spring, still there is a good assortment to select from. Coats $7.50, $8.00, $9.00, $10.00, $11.00, $12.50, $13.50, $15.00, $16.50, $18.00, $22.00.

Urge your husband to give you a Bank account

No one was ever able to swim without going into the water. How is a woman going to know how to save money who never had any money to save? If more men trusted their finances to their WIVES, there would be fewer bankrupts. If men trusted their wives with their bank accounts, they would find at the end of the month that there was a BIGGER BALANCE in the bank than ever before.

The Maine Methodist Conference.

The Maine Methodist Conference, which was held at South Paris from the 15th to the 21st inclusive, was very largely attended. The Deacons' Meeting church was fully capable of entertaining the Conference, and was assisted by the other churches of the village.

Thursday a. m. at 8:30, the devotional exercises were in charge of Bishop Henderson and proved to be one of the best meetings of the day. Business and greetings from various institutions occupied the forenoon and the afternoon was devoted to reports and addresses.

Mrs. Clara Knight Clifford, corresponding secretary of the Conference of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, presided at the afternoon session. In introducing the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Mabel Hartford, who has been a missionary in China for the past twenty five years, Mrs. Clifford told of the work of the Foreign Missionary Society, showing that the Women's Foreign Missionary Society has a membership of 294,382, with 198,717 adult members. During the past 24 years it has raised for use in foreign lands $13,118,000. The total receipts of the last year were $97,030, of which about $2,506 was raised by the Maine Conference. Mrs. Clifford has been at the head of the Foreign Missionary Society for fifteen years. She also stated that 377 women have been educated for the foreign field, 41 of whom went out for the first time last year. The society has the honor of sending out the first woman physician into India, China, Corea and the Philippines, and also the first hospital for women in these countries and has the first college for women in Mexico.

Maud King, of the Deaconess Home in Portland, told of the work which was being done. There are now eight working in active service and seven young ladies from the Maine Conference taking the course.

Rev. A. C. Clemons, D. D., spoke in behalf of retired ministers and a draft of $400 was presented by the Board of Conference Claimants.

Prof. G. W. Donnell represented William College of Springfield, Mass., the oldest Methodist Institute in America, this school is for boys.

Rev. Joshua M. Frost, superintendent of the Augusta district, reported: his charge in seven of the sixteen counties of the state, having 50 towns, 60 churches, 10,000 people, 1,000 communicants, 100 of which contained less than three thousand persons. It is a rural district mainly and contains only six cities, and the churches number over ninety and are served by fifty-three pastors, thirty-eight of whom are members of the Conference, nine are local preachers, and six are connected with other denominations.

Mabel Hartford told of the natural conditions of China and the Chinese character. The Chinese people are not always the head of the family any more than in America—it is the one who can "boss" the most. Numerous mistakes have been made concerning the Chinese. Many of the Chinese people are highly educated. The Chinese men are very patriotic and as they learn Christian ways are turning from their heathen customs. Day schools are being instituted as well as mission schools. Girls in China are studying in the training schools.

Sidney Stanley has lost one of his team horses. Cause, heart failure.

Mrs. Lewis Gould has been having some repairing done on her house.

Nettie Flye of Cornish spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Jennie Spring. Orman Stanley has sold the Herbert Ridman house to James Wiggins of Portland.

Harry Huestess still remains very low. Grave fears are entertained for his recovery.

Mrs. Della Huber of Kezar Falls has gone to Douglas Inn in Sebago to work through the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Quint have returned from South Windham, where they have been staying for several weeks.

School began in this district, Monday, April 14, taught by the same teacher as last fall, Addie Blake of Cornish.

Mrs. Oba Westcott had a very critical operation performed by Dr. Deveraux of Kezar Falls. She is reported as being comfortable.

Irving Sawyer has returned from Florida, where he has been working through the winter, bringing a friend with him. They are stopping at Chas. Wescott's.

Mrs. Willis Thompson and three children, who have been the guests of her sister, Mrs. Fred Libby and Mrs. Olive McDaniel, for the past few weeks, returned to North Conway, Saturday.

During the year the church property in 25 places has been improved to the amount of $12,500.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Readfield Depot presented the best report to the Kennebec County Federation. The Women's Foreign Missionary Society, a committee of W. H. Thompson and Farmington, the only ones in the Maine Conference, who secured prize banners from the New England branch for standards of efficiency.

D. B. Holt, superintendent of the Portland district, reported that there are 60 churches in the Portland district, served by 49 men, 88 of whom were members of the Conference, and 11 supplies. Many of the churches have been repaired and improvements made. The work in the Sunday school has not been neglected and Credit College and Home Department are in most of the schools.

The young ministers in the classes that are receiving examinations are: On trial, A. R. Welch, C. W. Mack, A. F. Elgin. First year, F. R. Welch, New Sharon, C. W. Mack, Yarmouth, A. F. Elgin, Long Island. Second year, A. Sullivan, Orr's Island. Elmer A. Leslie, Kittery Depot; Arthur Leeb, Gorham; E. F. Napier. Third year, C. E. Guphill, Kittery, N. H.; C. E. Brown, Kittery, N. H.; C. E. Hayes, Kittery; G. L. Pressy, Oakland.

At four o'clock a reception was given at the Congregational church by the ministers' wives, which was a pleasant social affair and enjoyed by all present.

A spirited discussion was held concerning the disposal of the Conference minutes, and it was finally left to the committee to report on the basis of membership rather than pastors' salaries.

Women of Middle Age

From 40 to 50 Woman's Critical Period.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, severe headaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularity, constipation and dizziness are promptly treated by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life.

This is the most critical period of woman's life and she who neglects the care of her health at this time invites incurable disease and pain. Why not be guided by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is an indisputable fact that this grand old remedy has helped thousands of women to pass through this trying period with comfort and safety. Thousands of genuine and honest testimonials support this fact.

From Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, Cadiz, Ohio.
Fort Worth, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and derived great benefit from its use. It carried me safely through the Change of Life when I was in bad health. I had that all gone feeling most of the time, and headache constantly, I was very nervous and the hot flashes were very bad. I had tried other remedies and doctors, but did not improve until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has now been some time since I took the Compound and I have had no return of my old complaints. I always praise your remedies to weak women."—Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, R. F. D. No. 5, Cadiz, Ohio.

From Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.
Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong, well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice, and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."—Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

From Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORF, Munford, Ala.
Munford, Ala.—"I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on all the gates for I could not stand to have a gate slam. I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was advertised for such cases and I sent and got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend it to all women afflicted as I was."—Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORF, Munford, Ala.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

NORTH NEWRY.
Dan Forbes is working for W. B. White.

The Circle held a supper at the church on Saturday, the 12th.

Charlotte Vail is home in Grafton. She has been working in this town.

F. C. Bennett is thinking of doing some work on his house next fall, by laying hard wood floors downstairs.

A. C. Littlehale of North Newry has his laundry full of work for shovels and handles. The men are making them.

"Sandy" Forbes is talking of getting through work for R. W. Kilgore for whom he has worked for a number of years.

HUCKFIELD.
Fishermen are plentiful but trout are rather scarce.

Ben Stone is working for Mr. Melcher at Hebron Academy.

Mabel Bumpus was at home Wednesday from the Academy where she is working.

George Maxim of Norway has been visiting his father, Charles Maxim, a few days. Frank Jewell has also been there.

Friends and relatives of Fred Maxim gathered at his place Thursday and out and fitted about seven cords of wood for him. Those present were Chas. Maxim, Fred Maxim, Warren Bumpus, L. E. Greene, Arthur Sturtevant, Walter Ellingwood and hired man, Geo. Lewis, St. Dunley and Mr. Trundy and son Oscar, of Mechanic Falls.

Musings.

I have been thinking of the different natures with which humanity is endowed.

Some are impulsive and witty, quick to form acquaintances, making many friends as the term goes, others are retiring by nature, forming few acquaintances and making few friends—and those friends are generally of the best, or better perhaps—those whose natures respond to, or echo back their own natures, and are dear as the "apple of the eye." Ay, they prize them as on impulsive persons, who make many friends and lose them in a day, can possibly prize them.

Often the retiring and sensitive nature fails to make acquaintances readily, for the reason that he is sensitive, and, with a good amount of self-respect, does not advance, fearing he may appear intrusive.

This being the case, would it not be well for those more social by nature, to consider these facts, and act with leniency toward the more reticent nature, and take the first step toward forming friendship which they might never have known the true worth of, had they never tried?

However, the universe is made up of natures that differ, and natures that blend.

Why this is the case we may know sometime, but meantime let us consider the question divinely given, "Who maketh us to differ?"

As has been said, "This is a world gone wrong, and men must work together to set it right by the concerted action of the men of power in all walks of life, the men of good-will who carry the Christ-Purpose in the heart."

The in-brothering of men for the common good in times of peace, as they band together for the common welfare in times of war, would in a generation cure all our social ills.

Healthy Old Age Is What Dr. Hartman Advocates

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

See here, young man, you could be just as well and strong as I am if you would do as I do. You may ask, do I never get sick, have I never had occasion to take medicine at all? Yes, I have got sick. Sometimes I feel a little touch of cold, trouble, like cold, malaria, slight catarrhal symptoms, but my only medicine is Peruna. I always keep a bottle of Peruna in the house. I keep a bottle of Peruna on my desk in my office. Once in a while I take some. I do not take it habitually. Take it only when I feel a little out of sorts. One swallow will perhaps be all that will be necessary, but it is always handy by.

And this is very common, too. You are not the only one. Probably three out of four of the young men of to-day have just such symptoms as you describe. What does it mean?

Look at me. I am eighty-two years old. Sound as a nut. Tough as hickory. Do not know what it is to be tired. While I cannot do as much physical work as I used to when a young man, I can do a great deal. Probably twice as much as the average young man of to-day.

What has kept me so strong and well? I will tell you. I do not use tobacco. I do not use alcoholic stimulants. I do not use tea or coffee habitually. I go to bed early. I get up early. I am always doing something, something that occupies my body and mind. I love to work. I take a cold water towel bath every morning, winter and summer. It is these things that have kept me well and strong. You could be just as well and strong as I am if you would do as I do. You may ask, do I never get sick, have I never had occasion to take medicine at all? Yes, I have got sick. Sometimes I feel a little touch of cold, trouble, like cold, malaria, slight catarrhal symptoms, but my only medicine is Peruna. I always keep a bottle of Peruna in the house. I keep a bottle of Peruna on my desk in my office. Once in a while I take some. I do not take it habitually. Take it only when I feel a little out of sorts. One swallow will perhaps be all that will be necessary, but it is always handy by.

It is a sorry sight to see the young men of to-day begin to peter out physically when they ought to be in the glory of their manhood and the height of their vigor. Eat plain food. Live frugally. Give up all weakening habits. Live as God intended you to live. Take Peruna when you do not feel as well as usual. If you want me to I will send you a book which will tell you a great many more things about yourself and about matters that may be of great value to you. Enclose a two-cent stamp for postage and the book will be sent in a plain wrapper and you will not be troubled with any follow-up letters or advertisements. PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES. SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of KATARNO, manufactured by KATARNO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

Nature's Own Wrapping Keeps Tobacco Best

No artificial package—tin, bag, or tin-foil and paper—can keep tobacco as well as the natural leaf wrapper that holds all the original flavor and moisture in the Sickle plug. When you whittle off a pipeful, you always get fresh tobacco, that burns slowly, and smokes cool and sweet.

Chopped-up, "package" tobacco loses much of its moisture before it goes into the package, and keeps getting drier all the time. And the drier it gets, the faster it burns in your pipe, and the more it bites your tongue. Only fresh tobacco gives real pipe-satisfaction—and only tobacco you cut off the Sickle plug as you use it, can be fresh.

Economical, too—no waste—no package to pay for—more tobacco. Get a Sickle plug from your dealer today.

Home and Our Boys and Girls.

J. R. Miller has said, "Home is the place where love learns its lessons, where life is schooled into discipline and strength, where character is molded. Each one of us helps to make up some home. As one note out of tune spoils the melody, so one life in a home out of tune mars the peace and happiness of that home. Home should be a Heaven on earth, a place where each member can find peace, comfort, and help, where no criticism takes place, where no slanderous remarks are heard, where the example of the Master is followed each day as best it can be.

Let us consider how greatly we influence and mould the characters of our children in our own homes. I believe almost as soon as a child is born, almost every discordant note in the family jars upon the sensitive little ears and when the child begins to talk, as it is a creature of imitation, it will use the same gestures, the same tone of voice, the same words with which it has been familiar. It is sometimes hard for tired mothers and fathers to speak gently at all times, however trying the situation, yet that is what we must do. We must teach the lessons of patience, endurance and self control by being patient at all times, enduring all trials and hardships with the consciousness that all is for the best and that through our sufferings we rise to greater heights of enjoyment.

When children are brought up in homes where there is perfect harmony, where father and mother never complain, criticize or contradict each other, where loving words are spoken and kind words are used, do you think these children will grow up to be noble women or men? It would be the exception if they did not. There are homes where honor, truth, uprightness and a strength of will to resist anything low or mean, [Homes] I say, where all the virtues exist, and then they are expected from generation reared in such homes. Surely they should be men and women of strong character, loyal to every good cause for the upbuilding of humanity.

It is shocking to hear the low vulgar language used by many parents, but to their children, language which should never be uttered at all. It has a lasting influence over the young and when they get out into the world they will have formed a taste for just such conversation thereby seeking low company.

Fathers and mothers wake up to this fact and realize that one of the greatest influences for character building is the conversation used in our homes and before our children. Children should be taught to respect older people, beginning at home. Their parents should insist upon their children obeying and respecting their teachers at school, and so much of the forming period of life is spent. How many parents criticize teachers who probably are doing far more for their children than the parents realize. When children are not obedient in school parents should support the teacher in every way they are helping both the teacher and the child.

It is appalling to see the number of small boys smoking right here in our own village. I know of one mother on being told that her boy smoked, asked him if it was so. He denied the fact and the mother told the boy that she believed him, instead of believing a perfectly reliable older person who was interested in the boy's welfare. That is why our boys are smoking behind other people's barns and in out-of-the-way places. Parents do not want to face the responsibility of neglecting wrong.

It is a disgrace to the town of Norway that so many boys are smoking and that thoughtless men are giving cigarettes to boys.

It is true the church and other organizations can do much in the way of reform, but why do not parents look out for their own children. How can any mother or father permit a child to be out after dark, alone, without knowing, not thinking they know, but knowing, where they are.

No child is capable of doing the right thing at all times without much teaching and looking after. We ought not to expect perfection in our children, but we can demand correction, guidance, and companionship from their parents. The amusements for children should be such as are healthy in every way, morally as well as physically. It has come to our notice recently that some of our good boys and girls are playing many of the so-called kissing games at parties, such as postoffice, etc. We all know that colds and diseases and transmitted in this way, and for that reason, if for no other, such games should be abolished. Why do parents permit these things? Why are the children not taught to find amusement in something more salutary and sensible. All they want is to be taught something better by their parents.

From personal observation I have found that good predominates in children. All they need is encouragement and help. They are generally examples of perpetual motion and must be given something to do all the time, either work or wholesome play, then there will be no time for mischief. We have several churches in town and every one ought to be filled. Every man, woman or child, unless sick, ought to be attending church. Our Sunday schools should be filled. Such influences are good and necessary to the welfare of the community.

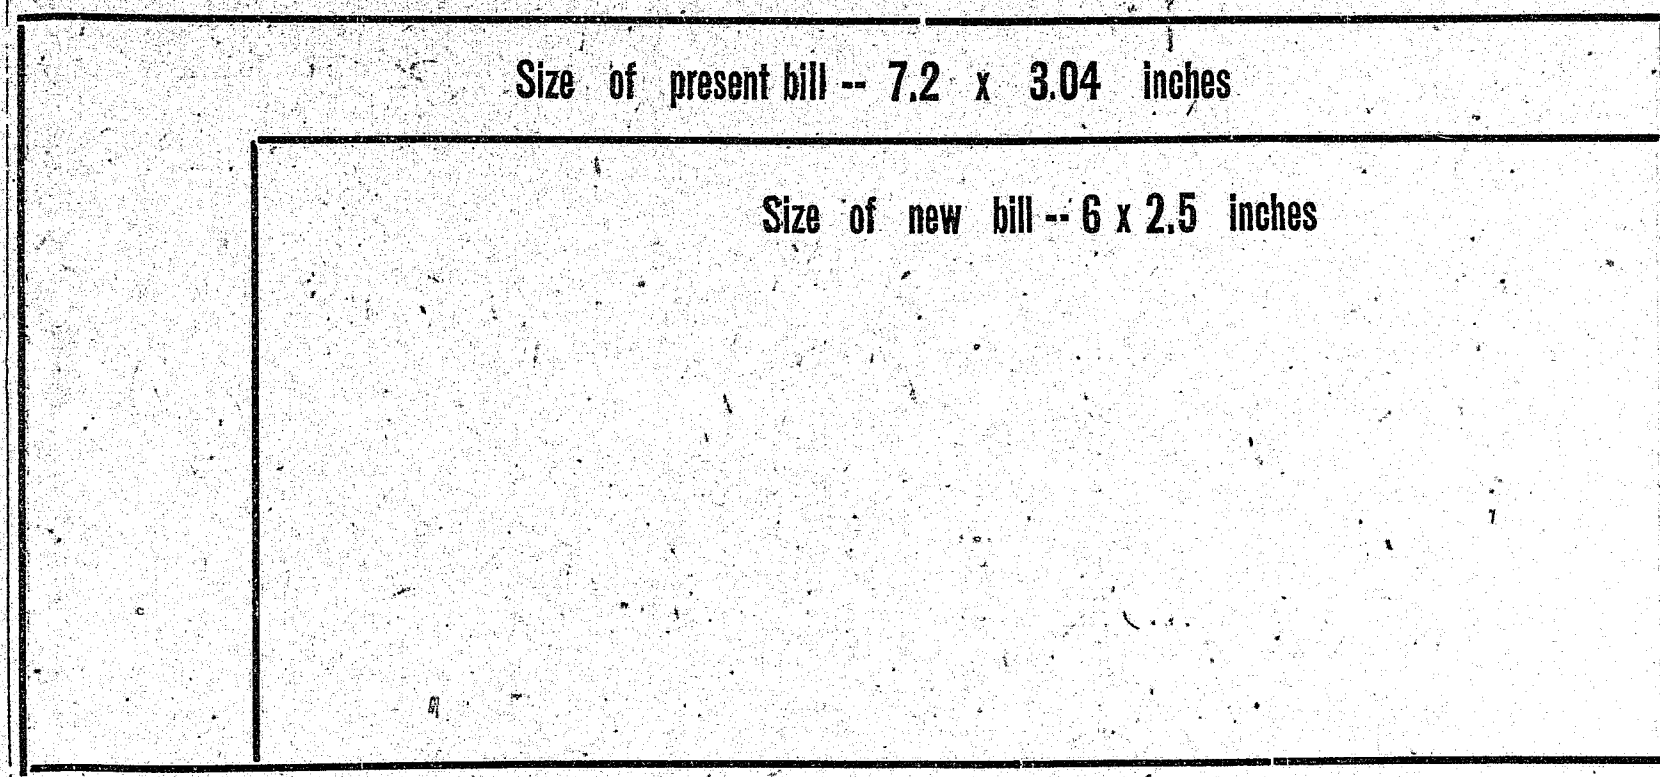

Another summer is approaching and with the arrival of out-of-town guests let us hope the old criticism cannot be given, namely, that we let our children run wild. Children should be kept off of the street after dark unless accompanied by their parents or other guardians.

What are parents thinking of when they let young girls paint and powder their faces, trying to ape the society woman. Is it because parents do not know what their children are doing? So much of the blame, they should know. Much of this is done in our small village and does not escape the notice of many. Let us wake up in Norway and do more to set a good example to our boys and girls and let old and young find companionship in each other's company.

Children should be taught to appreciate all the blessings bestowed upon them and the sacrifices made for them. I have known older people who appreciate every kindness done to them to such a degree that to serve them is a pleasure. Let us teach our boys and girls to be more thankful for what they have and also to be more thoughtful of others, doing deeds of kindness and speaking words of comfort.

As someone has written:—
"Comfort one another close and tender,
With the sweetest love can render,
And look of love, they should know,
Do not wait with grace unspoken,
While life's daily bread is broken,
Gentle speech is oft like manna from the skies."
If our boys could only remember that our greatest and best men are the most

THE NORWAY NATIONAL BANK OF NORWAY

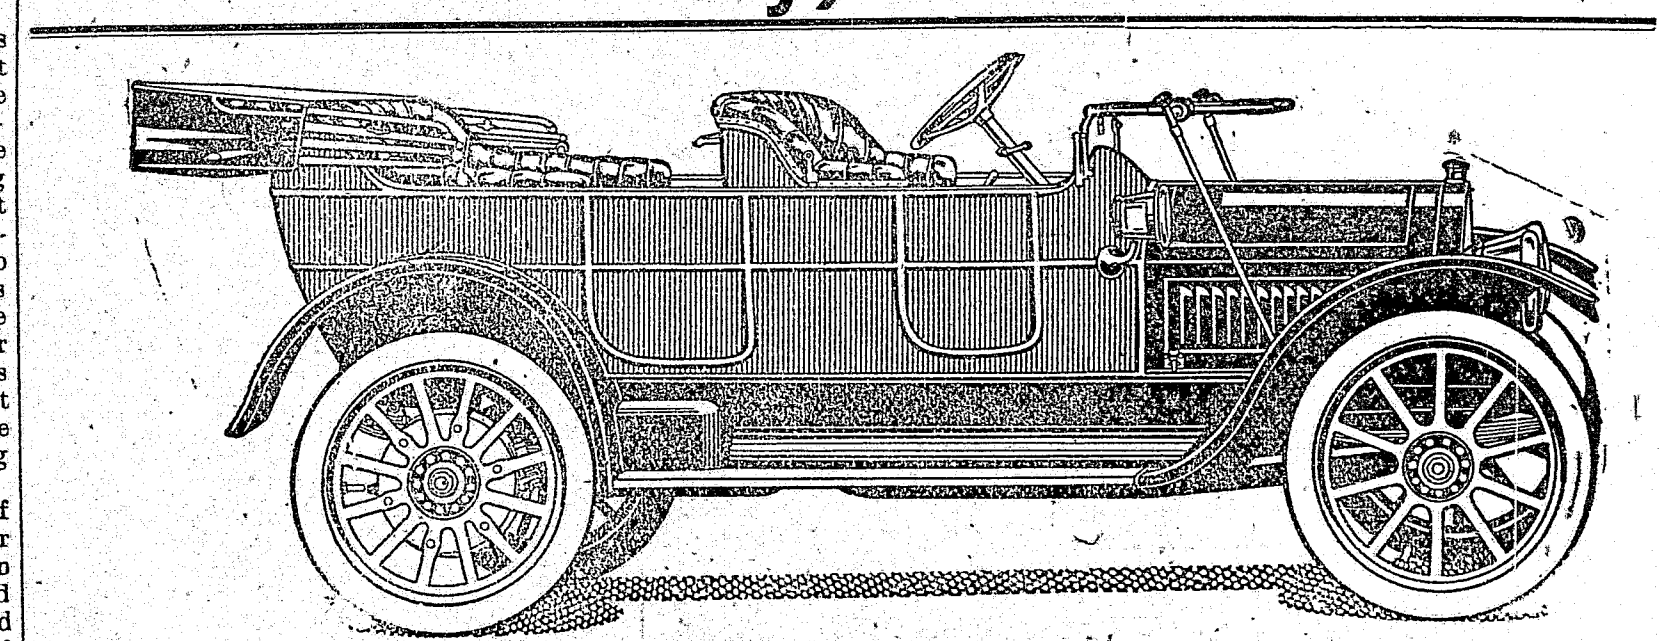

The New and Smaller Paper Currency

It is expected that within a month or two the people of the United States will witness a great revolution in the size and appearance of their paper money. Each of two billion notes of that kind now in circulation will be supplemented by uniform pieces of currency about a quarter size smaller than now used.

The change in size is not the only one. Any note with Washington's portrait on it will be one dollar, Jefferson's, two dollars, Lincoln's, five dollars, Grover Cleveland's, ten dollars, Alexander Hamilton's, twenty dollars, and so on. This plan will render the raising of bills by crooks practically impossible, and we will have the safest and simplest system of National Currency in the world.

However, the new money will be just as elusive—just as hard to get and keep—as the old currency, and your need for the services of a good bank in caring for it, whether for deposit or investment, will be just as great. This Strong National Bank stands ready to serve you in this connection.

NORTH WATERFORD.

Horace Maxwell Fiske.
Horace Maxwell Fiske of Bismarcktown passed away April 18th. He was first taken sick with bronchitis, which turned into pneumonia which caused his death.

He was born in Oisfield, Oct. 1st, 1838, son of William and Lorraine Fiske. He married Mary Hicks; they had four children all of them are living now: Nora M., William C., E. Elmer and M. Evelyn. Several years after the death of his wife he married Rebecca T. Crosby, who now survives him.

In his younger days he taught school and at one time was in trade at Norway Lake and at North Waterford. When in trade at Waterford he kept the store now occupied by W. S. Perkins, awhile, then building a store that was burned in the big fire.

He was postmaster here, also a charter member of I. O. O. F. Lodge No. 61. In politics a republican, serving on the Republican Town Committee.

Eight years ago last September he fell from a load of hay, injuring his spine, from which he never recovered.

Besides his wife and children he leaves two sisters, Mary, Jordan and Martha Fiske of Norway and five grandchildren. On account of the sickness of his son, W. G. Fiske, the funeral was private and held Friday at 2 p. m., Rev. G. W. Sias officiating. He was laid at rest in Woodlawn cemetery. The bearers were E. K. Shedd, Leon Biebee, Bert and Linwood Flint.

The following is a list of flowers: Wreath, Mrs. Nora Dresser; wreath, Mrs. B. Hazlett; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Crosby; Portulaca spray, Mr. and Mrs. G. Buswell, Norway; spray, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Caswell, Harrison; cut flowers, Mrs. Lydia F. Lord, Mrs. Lawrence Knight and Mrs. Will Green.

Edith Knight has gone to New Haven, Conn.
Ernest Nason and crew are repairing her roads.

A number from here went to Harrison and Stockholm smelting.
Sam Young and Winslow Sloan from Norway and Roland Littlefield are shingling the school house.

Etha McAllister finished work for Mrs. Jesse Littlefield, Sunday, and went to her home to attend school.

Charles Marston has been sawing wood with his gasoline engine for John Willis, Harry Sawin and Ernest Nason.

Nathaniel Jewett passed away Thursday night, at the age of eighty years, at the home of his son, Seth Jewett. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Chas. Mead, High street, Bridgton, conducted by the Rev. Stephen T. Livingstone of the Congregational church. Interment was in the family lot in the cemetery on High street, Bridgton.

The gentlemen's supper and entertainment at the Congregational vestry last week, Wednesday, was a big success both socially and financially. Some of the features of the entertainment were: George Flint as an Italian organ grinder (with a hand organ) and Clarence Packard as the monkey, collecting the pennies. This was a very laughable part of the program and brought in quite a sum of money. Prof. Joseph Pitts gave a fine exhibition of mind reading. He also auctioneered off twenty-five ladies who were unknown until bought. Master Arthur Libby gave a solo; Mrs. Alice Freelove gave a fine reading, and an orchestra of eight pieces rendered some very pleasing selections. Supper was served to more than one hundred and seventy-five. More than enough money was taken to defray all charges for the electric lights for the church.
